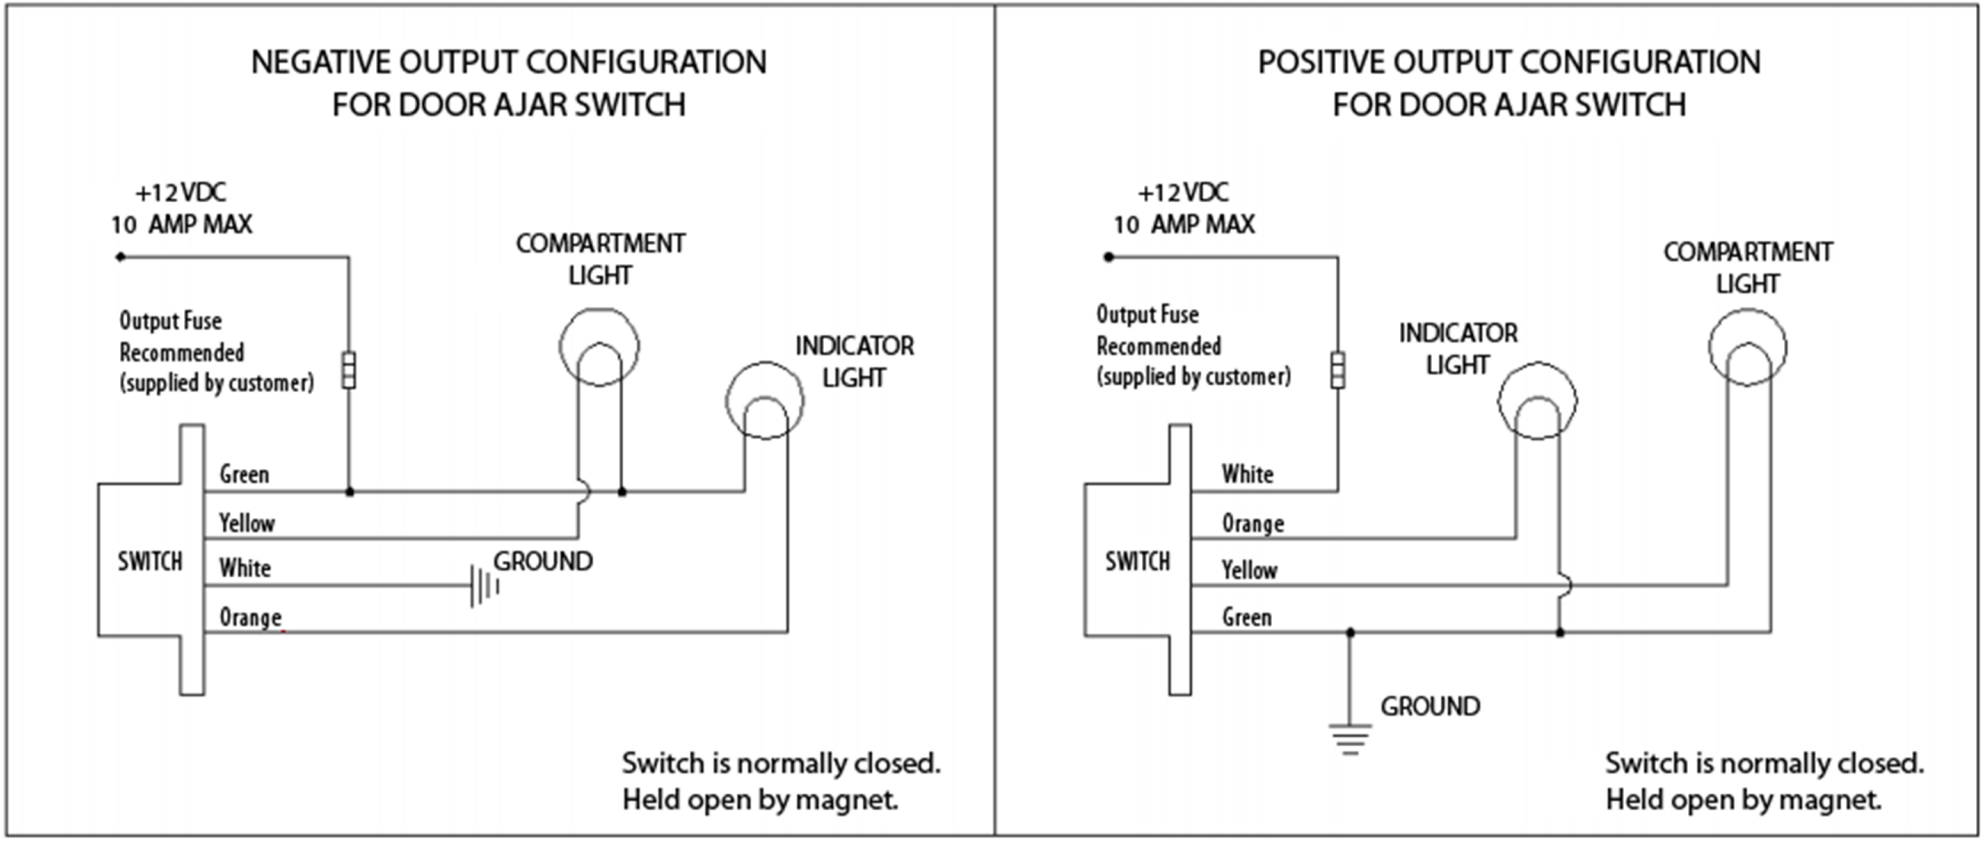
SWITCH CONFIGURATIONS



This switch has two separate-isolated outputs that can be used to provide power to compartment lights and cab indicator lights without the need for any additional components or switches.

The switch can be easily adapted to any existing wiring configuration and can be used with multiple or single cab indicator lights.